BOSTON, OCTOBER 10.

The following is a true copy of a letter tranſmitted to DENNYS DE BERDT, Eſq; in London, by order of the late convention, conſiſting of committees from ninety-eight towns, many of them the moſt wealthy, and numerous in the province, and eight diſtricts.

SIR, BOSTON, September 27, 1768.

THE inhabitants of a number of towns within this province, having, at their ſeveral town meetings, legally called, taken under their moſt mature conſideration, the great and prevailing uneaſineſs among the people of the province in general; ariſing from an apprehenſion that their charter and conſtitutional rights and liberties are infringed by the late acts of parliament, for the raiſing a revenue in America without their conſent; and alſo from the immediate proſpect of a ſtanding army to enforce the execution of theſe acts, at this time, when they may reaſonably hope the late dutiful and loyal ſupplications of their repreſentatives, for a redreſs of the grievance, is under the conſideration of our gracious Sovereign, from whoſe wiſdom and clemency they expect relief: And being deprived of the benefit of a general aſſembly, his excellency the Governor having diſſolved the ſame at an unuſual ſeaſon, and in an unuſual manner, declaring that he does not think himſelf at liberty to call a new one, till he ſhall receive further orders from his Majeſty. The ſaid towns have ſeverally made choice of committees to meet together, to conſult and adviſe ſuch meaſures as may tend to promote the peace and good order of his Majeſty's ſubjects in this province, at ſo alarming and diſtreſſing a criſis.

And being convened for the purpoſe aforeſaid at Boſton, we have taken the earlieſt opportunity to aſſure the Governor of the province, and the world, in our petition offered to his Excellency, which we cauſed immediately to be publiſhed, and is herewith incloſed, to diſclaim all pretenſions to any authoritative and governmental acts. And you will pleaſe to obſerve, by a copy of our whole proceedings, now ſent to you, that we have ſtrictly adhered to the expreſs deſign of our convention.

We have taken the liberty to write to you, as a known friend to the province, and to beg the favour of you to uſe your kind endeavour to prevent any miſrepreſentations of our meeting and proceedings, which our enemies may be ready to make. We flatter ourſelves you may be enabled, from this inſtance, to afford to his Majeſty's miniſters, and the good people of Britain, a freſh token of the loyalty of our reſpective towns to his Majeſty, their attachment to his government, and love of peace and good order.

We wiſh and pray for the happy time, when a national attention ſhall be given to the grievances we labour under, and the true ſource of them. When ſuch a period ſhall come, we are perſuaded that the union and harmony which has hitherto ſubſiſted between Great-Britain and the colonies, and upon which the welfare of both undoubtedly depends, will be confirmed and eſtabliſhed.

The preſent diſcontent we apprehend originally aroſe from the nation's having been informed of the ability of the people here to pay conſiderable duties and taxes. Whoever made ſuch a repreſentation, ſurely did not attend duly to the heavy load of debt lying upon this province, incurred chiefly by our expences in defending and enlarging his Majeſty's American territories in the laſt war, which was borne by the people with the greateſt alacrity. The nation being itſelf involved in a heavy debt, was eaſily induced to avail itſelf of the ſuppoſed affluence of the colonies, and unfortunately, as they apprehend, took ſuch a meaſure as will naturally awaken the jealouſy of every free and ſenſible people, namely, by paſſing acts to tax them without their conſent. The late ſtamp-act made for this purpoſe, was indeed repealed: But other acts of the ſame nature and tendency, though perhaps not ſo apparently obnoxious, are in full force, and daily executing.

The people in conſequence complained of theſe acts, as being abridgements of ſuch conſtitutional rights as are laid deep in the foundation of nature: But theſe complaints have been repreſented as ariſing from a ſpirit of faction, diſloyalty and rebellion. Their moſt dutiful and loyal petitions to his Majeſty, they have been informed, by the laſt advice from London, had not reached the royal preſence: nay, his Majeſty, as they are told, has been aſſured that the ſubjects of this province have even attempted to excite the ſame ſpirit among his other colonies, by a circular letter, the only purport of which was to acquaint them of their having petitioned for relief from the common grievance, with hopes of ſucceſs from the royal clemency.

In order to raiſe the jealouſy of the nation, the moſt trifling incidents have been wrought up to the higheſt pitch of aggravation, by perſons who ſtill find means to gain a credit there. We ſhall only recur to the moſt recent inſtances.

On the 18th of March laſt, being the anniverſary of the repeal of the ſtamp-act, and obſerved as a day of rejoicing, a few diſorderly perſons, moſtly boys, aſſembled in the evening, paraded ſome of the ſtreets, and finally repaired to the houſe of John Williams, Eſq; the Inſpector-general. Whether their deſign was to do him an injury or not, by his addreſs and ſoft treatment of them, together with the interpoſition of ſome of the neighbouring houſholders, they ſoon retired and diſperſed, without doing any miſchief at all. His Majeſty's council, in their anſwer to the Governor, which is incloſed, have declared this to be too inconſiderable to make it a ſubject of repreſentation; and that it could not have been made the ſubject of ſo injurious an one, but by perſons diſpoſed to bring miſery and diſtreſs upon the town and province; and their declaration it is ſaid has given great offence to the Governor.

There was indeed on the 10th of June following, ſomething that had rather more of the appearance of riot, but it was only of a few hours exiſtence, and with very little miſchief. But as we are informed, that the town of Boſton have already given you a full account of this affair, ſupported by affidavits, we ſhall not give you the further trouble of reciting it, but refer you to their letter. It is however to be obſerved, that if the inhabitants of that town had been diſpoſed to give the leaſt countenance to this riot, ſo exaſperated were the people at the extraordinary and unuſual exertion of the naval power, when there could be no apprehenſion that the King's officers would be in the leaſt meaſure moleſted in the due execution of lawful power; as well as at the haughty behaviour of the commiſſioners of the cuſtoms, that the leaſt countenance would have been ſufficient to have led them on to extremities——but they ſoothed them, and the people ſoon diſperſed, after having broke a few panes of glaſs, not to the value of five pounds. We cannot help taking notice here, of a notorious inſtance of the inveterate temper of our enemies, in a repreſentation made in a certain letter, of this riotous aſſembly's having burnt a beautiful barge belonging to the collector of the cuſtoms, before Mr. Hancock's door. As this worthy gentleman ſuſtains a public character, and is one of the principal inhabitants in the province, it is apparent that the malice of the writer of that letter was not confined to a ſingle gentleman, but extended to the public. The truth is, the barge was burnt on a common, ſurrounded with gentlemens ſeats; and the ſcene could not be ſaid to be before Mr. Hancock's door, any more than before the doors of divers other gentlemen in the neighbourhood. The mean inſinuation, that it was done under the influence of Mr. Hancock, is ſo far from the leaſt ſhadow of truth, that it is notorious here, that the tumult was finally diſperſed, principally by his exertions, animated by his known regard to peace and good order.—His Majeſty's council afterwards gave a juſt account of the occaſion of that riot, and repeatedly deſired that the Governor would order the ſame to be made public, but without ſucceſs.

Care was taken, however, by thoſe, who, to ſpeak in the ſofteſt terms, are unfriendly to us, to tranſmit this affair to the nation in ſo aggravated a light, as to incenſe to a high degree. And we cannot indeed wonder, that when ſuch falſe repreſentations are made by perſons, as we have reaſon to believe, of rank and figure here, our mother country ſhould for a while give credit to them, and under an apprehenſion of a general inſurrection, ſhould ſend a military force to ſubdue a people, if we may be allowed to ſay it, at leaſt as orderly and well-affected,—as ſenſible of their juſt rights, and yet as patient under oppreſſion, 'till they can be conſtitutionally relieved, as any in his Majeſty's Empire.

Nothing we apprehend, is wanting to reſtore a much deſired harmony, but for his Majeſty's ſubjects, on both ſides the Atlantic, fully to explain themſelves to each other, which is not likely to be done through the medium of intereſted and deſigning men: Such men would not ſcruple to raiſe their fortunes, though at the ruin of the empire.—— Could ſuch men be removed, the nation, attentive to the calm voice of reaſon, which we humbly apprehend has been uttered by the colonies, would ſoon view their diſpoſition, we may at leaſt be allowed to ſay, that of this province, in its juſt light, and be convinced, that it is their warmeſt inclination, as well as in their power, to add ſtrength and riches to the mother ſtate, and adminiſter to the ſplendor of the Britiſh crown.

Thus we have given you a full account of the occaſion, nature and deſign of our convening; which is by no means to aſſume to ourſelves any authority of government; but only as a number of private fellow-ſubjects met together, to conſult and adviſe the moſt effectual meaſures to promote the peace and good order of his Majeſty's ſubjects at this very difficult and diſtreſſing time.

We herewith incloſe to you an humble, dutiful and loyal petition to our moſt gracious Sovereign, which we beg the favour of you to preſent to his Majeſty in perſon, as ſpeedily as poſſible.

We reſt, in ſtrict truth, and with great reſpect, &c.

Signed, THOMAS CUSHING, Chairman."

JOURNAL of Tranſactions in BOSTON,

SEPTEMBER 28, 1768.

ADVICE received that the men of war and tranſports from Halifax, with about 900 troops, collected from ſeveral parts of America, were ſafe arrived at Nantaſket Harbour, having very narrowly eſcaped ſhipwreck on the back of Cape-Cod, which diſaſter would have left the extenſive ſea coaſt of North-America, almoſt bare of ſhips of war, and troops, but in no worſe ſtate than are the inland fortreſſes and ſettlements, from whence the garriſons had been before withdrawn.—Time muſt account for ſuch extraordinary ſteps in our miniſtry.

SEPTEMBER 29. The fleet was brought to anchor near Caſtle-William: That evening there was throwing of fly-rockets, and thoſe paſſing in boats obſerved great rejoicings, and that the Yankey Doodle ſong was the capital piece in their band of muſic.—This day his Majeſty's council received a billet from Governor Bernard, requiring their attendance at Caſtle-William, and informing them that the officers of his Majeſty's fleet and army, would be preſent,—they attended accordingly, and notwithſtanding all intimidation, adhered ſtrictly to their votes, publiſhed in the laſt papers: The Governor's arts were ineffectual to induce them to give the leaſt countenance to any troops being brought into Boſton, as the barracks at Caſtle-William were ſufficient to receive the whole of them arrived from Halifax.—The treatment they received from his Excellency during their tarry at the Caſtle, was very uncourtly, and even rude.

SEPTEMBER 30. Early this morning a number of boats were obſerved round the town, making ſoundings, &c.—At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the Launceſton of 40 guns, the Mermaid of 28, Glaſgow 20, Beaver 14, Senegal 14, Bonetta 10, ſeveral armed ſchooners, which, together with the Romney of 60 guns, and the other ſhips of war before in the harbour, all commanded by Captain Smith, came up to town, bringing with them, the 14th regiment, Col. Dalrymple, and the 29th regiment, Col. Carr; none having been diſembarked at Caſtle-Iſland,—ſo that we now beheld Boſton ſurrounded at a time of profound peace, with about 24 ſhips of war, with ſprings on their cables, and their broadſides to the town! If the people of England could but look into the town, to ſee the utmoſt good order and obſervance of the laws, and that this mighty armament has no other rebellion to ſubdue, than what exiſted in the brain or letter of the inveterate G——r B——d, and the diſtreſſed Comm—ſſ——rs of the Board of C——s. What advantages the Court of Verſailles may take of the preſent policy of the Britiſh Miniſtry, can be better determined hereafter.

OCTOBER 1. This morning, rumours that repreſentations had gone from hence to General Gage at New-York, from our good friend, &c. that we are in a ſtate of rebellion; an expreſs it is ſaid, has arrived in conſequence, with advice that more troops may be expected from New-York.—Sheriff Greenleaf and his Deputy, preſſing carts, &c. for the uſe of the troops; this and other motions, indicate that they mediate a landing this day, to encamp in the common, in hopes of intimidating the magiſtrates to find them quarters, which they cannot force, until the barracks are filled, without flying in the face of a plain Act of Parliament. At about 1 o'clock, all the troops landed under cover of the cannon of the ſhips of war, and marched into the common, with muſkets charged, bayonets fixed, colours flying, drums beating, and fifes, &c. playing, making with the train of artillery, upwards of 700 men.—In the afternoon it is ſaid, an officer from the Colonel went to the Manufactory-Houſe, with an order from the Governor, and requeſted Mr. Brown and the other occupiers, to remove within two hours, that the troops might take poſſeſſion; inſtead of a compliance the doors were barred and bolted againſt them. This evening the Seleſtmen were required by the Colonel, to quarter the two regiments in this town, which they abſolutely refuſed, as his Majeſty's Council had done before, knowing that wherever ſhould conduct, in violation of an Act of Parliament, muſt be anſwerable for the conſequences.—The Colonel, as it is ſaid, waving a demand for quartering, earneſtly intreated, that, out of compaſſion to the troops, one regiment of which were without their camp equipage, they would allow Fanueil-Hall, and the chambers, that and the following night, as a ſhelter from the weather. The next day being the Sabbath, on which all confuſion ſhould be avoided,—at 9 o'clock this night, they were permitted to enter ſaid Hall, in which were a large number of ſtands of the town's arms: Thus the humanity of the city magiſtrates permitted them to a temporary ſhelter, which no menaces could have procured.

OCTOBER 2. Being the Lord's Day, the town quiet, no diſorders having ariſen on any ſide.—This evening, by order of Governor Bernard, the Secretary of the Province opened the Town-Houſe, and even the Repreſentatives Chamber, for the reception of the troops.

REFLECTIONS ON PATRIOTISM.

SUPERIOR talents and ſuperior rank amongſt our fellow-creatures, whether acquired by birth, or by the courſe of accidents, and the ſucceſs of our own induſtry, are noble prerogatives. Shall he who poſſeſſes them repine at the obligation they lay him under of paſſing his whole life in the nobleſt occupation in which human nature is capable? To what higher ſtation, to what greater glory can any mortal aſpire, than to be, during the whole courſe of his life, the ſupport of good, controul of bad government, and the guardian of public liberty?

Neither Montaigne in writing eſſays, nor Des Cartes in building new worlds, nor Burnet in framing an antediluvian earth, no, nor Newton in diſcovering and eſtabliſhing the true laws of nature on experiment and a ſublimer Geometry, felt more intellectual joys than he feels who is a real Patriot; who bends all the force of his undertaking, and directs all his thoughts and actions to the good of his country. When ſuch a man forms a political ſcheme, and adjuſts various and ſeeming independant parts in it to one good deſign, he is tranſported by imagination, or abſorbed in meditation, as much and as agreeably as they; and the ſatisfaction that ariſes from the different importance of theſe objects, in every ſtep of the work, is vaſtly in his favour. It is here that the ſpeculative philoſopher's labour and pleaſure end. But he who ſpeculates in order to act, goes on, and carries his ſcheme into execution; his labour continues, it varies, it increaſes; but ſo does his pleaſure too. The execution indeed is often traverſed by unforeſeen and untoward circumſtances, by the perverſeneſs of friends, and by the power of enemies; but the first and last of these animate, and the docility and fidelity of some men make amends for the perverseness and treachery of others. Whilst a great event is in suspence the action warms, and the very suspence, made up of hope and fear, maintains no unpleasing agitation in the mind. If the event is decided successfully, such a man enjoys pleasure proportionable to the good he has done; a pleasure like to that which is attributed to the supreme being on a survey of his works. If the event is decided otherwise, and usurping courts or over bearing parties prevail, such a man has still the testimony of his conscience, and the sense of the honour he has acquired to sooth his mind and support his courage. For although the counsels of state affairs be to those who meddle in them like a lottery, yet it is a lottery wherein no good man can be a loser: He may be reviled, it is true, instead of being applauded, and may suffer violence of many Kinds. I will not say, like Seneca, that the noblest spectacle which God can behold, is a virtuous man suffering and struggling with afflictions; but this I will say, that the second Cato driven out the forum, and dragged to prison, enjoyed more inward pleasure and maintained more outward dignity, than they who insulted him and who triumphed in the ruin of their country.

THE following article is from the Gloucester Journal, viz. "We are favoured with a little anecdote of the P—— of W——. The P—— was very unruly the other day, and made so much noise, that the King told him to go about his business. No, indeed, he would not go, nor he;—so the Lady Governess was sent for, and the young hero handed up stairs.—Presently after he gives his Governess the slip, runs down, just opens the parlour door to thrust in his head, and shouts, Wilkes and Liberty."

The princess Barbarigo, niece to the pope, lately arrived here from Italy, has taken a house in St. James's-street, as she proposes to continue here some time.

Extract of a letter from Boston in New-England, July 21.

"We are involved in many perplexities by the late acts of parliament for the raising of a revenue. They are attended with a great increase of officers, who are to be supported by the money raised from it, the remainder of which is to be remitted to England, there to be paid into the treasury. Two years ago the parliament passed an act, whereby New-York, for a time, was deprived of legislative power; and, by the last packet, there came a letter from the Earl of Hillsborough, ordering our Governor to dissolve the assembly, unless they rescinded the resolution they had come to, of writing circular letters to the other colonies, in which they desired them to join in an humble remonstrance to his Majesty and ministers for the repeal of the late acts.—They refused to do it, and were dissolved. The provinces to whom this letter was sent highly approved of it; and eight of them, in their answers, expressed their resolution of joining with this province in an humble address for relief. Imagine what would be the deplorable condition of these provinces, if their Governors should have the like instructions to dissolve their assemblies.

"Formerly, the constant method was to make a requisition, which was always complied with.—Was there to be a war this year, the colonists, (who, as appears by the poll for taxing this year, in the four provinces of New-England, have 216,000 men, from 16 to 60 years of age) even without a requisition, would strain themselves beyond their strength to supply his Majesty with men and money: They had always the same feelings with you; your adversity or prosperity was always seen on every countenance. This is a most alarming crisis! but I trust God almighty will direct the grand council of the nation to the means of restoring peace and harmony between us.

"Great-Britain seems to have been guilty of a great error in politics, in taxing those articles of which they have the rough materials in the colonists, and can themselves easily manufacture without any charge of duty,—as paper, glass, paint, and oil for preparing it. At Martha's Vineyard they have both red and yellow paint, and lately they have discovered a most excellent blue colour.

"The Governor has never called on any magistrates, or civil officers; nor has he issued out any proclamation to apprehend any riotous people. The Governor has power to raise the militia of the province, by charter, in case of an insurrection; there cannot (we think) be a rebellion or insurrection before the civil power is rendered ineffectual."

Extract of a letter from Margate, August 26.

"The corn in this island is exceeding fine, especially the barley, of which there is as large a crop as ever was known. The corn of all sorts are mostly cut, and as the weather is now very fine, the people are extremely busy in carting it into their barns."

—SEPTEMBER 1. We are credibly informed that a certain great lady, whose pregnancy has been the subject of much public conversation, was very safely delivered last Tuesday fortnight at her house at C——.

We hear that three divisions of Marines at Plymouth, Portsmouth, and Chatham, are to be filled up as in time of war.

It was yesterday current in the city, that press warrants would speedily be issued for the immediate supply of a large body of seamen for the service of the government.

SEPTEMBER 2. Some dispatches of importance have just been received from Commodore Spry, commander in chief of his Majesty's squadron in the Mediterranean.

Monday at four in the afternoon, Lord Bottetourt sailed from Spithead in the Rippon man of war, for Virginia, to take upon him the government of that province. The Rippon was paid by the commissioner the day before she sailed.

By a private letter from Madrid we are informed, that the frequent return of couriers between that court and Versailles, give rise to conjectures that matters of importance are on the tapis.

It is said, that a certain late Governor and great military commander, will have an Irish peerage and a valuable sinecure in England.

We hear that his Danish Majesty proposes leaving this kingdom the 9*th of October, from whence he will go to Paris.*

We hear that the parliament will meet for the dispatch of business on the 3*d of November.*

It is reported that the Lord Chancellor, Lord Chatham, and Lord Shelburne, will soon resign, on account of a recent affair.

It is reported that Lord Egmont will soon be appointed Secretary of State.

Lord Bute is expected to arrive from the continent before the expiration of the present month.

A noble Lord we hear is determined while he is Secretary of State, to see that the business of every office in his department, shall be executed by the person who receives the salary.

Sir George Macartney, we hear, is speedily to be advanced to a British peerage.

Among other schemes of public economy, we hear that a stop will be put to the further appointment of Yellow Admirals.

SEPTEMBER 6. The sudden arrival of the Earl of Rochford from Paris, (when he was not expected till the meeting of parliament) occasions various speculations; but the general opinion is, that some affairs of importance, and not his own private affairs, brought him to town.

The parliament of Ireland, which stood prorogued to this day, is further prorogued to Tuesday the 31st day of October next.

Letters from France mention, that after the late engagement in Corsica, between the French and Islanders, many dead bodies were found in the field of battle, which were discovered to be women in men's apparel.

Mr. Wilkes is removed from his late apartments in the King's-Bench Prison to the State-Room in the same place, so that the curiosity of the public can now be no longer indulged.

BERLIN, August 20. His Prussian Majesty is so well recovered from his late fit of the gout, that he will set out next Monday for Silesia, and return to Potsdam about the middle of September.

WARSAW, August 10. The insurrections and disorders which desolate the kingdom are still encreasing; the people become more and more outrageous; and the greatest part of the provinces feel all the most terrible effects of a civil war. Crimes are so much the more frequent as they are committed with impunity; the tribunals have no longer any authority; and we discover every where the traces of a real anarchy.

We have received letters which assure us, the Count de Wessel, Grand Treasurer of the crown, and the Sieur de Wielopolski, Equerry of the crown and of the court, have been carried off from Bilitz, by a party of the Confederates of Cracow, and conducted into the latter city.

Another detachment of the same Confederates, have invaded the territory of Welbors, belonging to the Bishop of Cujavia; where they committed great pillage, and carried off the soldiers which were in the Bishop's pay.

The 7*th of this month the Valachian Resident here received a courier from Constantinople, since which it is pretended, that the Porte requires reparation for the damages committed by the Poles and Russians in the Turkish territories, and the Grand Seignor insists on their keeping at a distance from the Frontiers of Turkey.*

CHARLES-TOWN, NOVEMBER 15.

THE General Assembly of this Province are to meet here this Day.

In Captain Urquhart from Leith, came Mrs. Clitherall, Wife of Dr. James Clitherall, and some other Passengers.

"The Spaniards say, the Keys or small Islands on the South Point of the Isthmus of Florida, were not ceded to Great-Britain, by the last Treaty of Peace: And we are told the Governor of Cuba accordingly grants Licences to the Subjects of Spain to cut Wood, &c. on the said Keys. It is likewise said the Spaniards have been in Treaty with the Creek Indians for a Part of their Country about Apalache."
